

India Demands British Restore Turkish Power

Sensational Communication from Moslems Reminds of Promises During War

BRITISH ARE EMBARRASSED

Revision of Sevres Treaty is Basis for Demands, Lord
Reading Declares

By United Press Leased Wire
London. — Edwin Samuel Montagu, secretary of state for India, has resigned as a result of recommendations of the Indian government relative to Turkey, it was announced Thursday.

London. — The house of commons will probably adjourn Thursday evening to debate the situation created by unprecedented public recommendations on the part of the government of India, relating to Turkey and revision of the Sevres treaty.

(Adjournment of the house of commons must be moved by a member before the scheduled business of parliament can be suspended, and an unexpected development debated.)

The Indian government has urged:

1. British evacuation of Constantinople.
2. Suzerainty of the Sultan over the Holy places.
3. Restoration of the Ottoman empire of Thrace, including Adrianople and Smyrna.

MUST APPEASE MOSLEMS
The object of these recommendations, which were made in a dispatch from Lord Reading, viceroy of India, to Edwin S. Montagu, secretary of state for India, is to modify Mohammedan feeling in the Near East.

The dispatch, which was made public over the head of the home government, declares fulfillment of these points is of gravest importance to India.

The Indian demands have already caused the greatest embarrassment to the British government and will do so in view of the allied conference on Near East matters, which is to meet in Paris, March 22.

Lord Reading's note says that this action is taken on the eve of the Near East conference with a purpose of emphasizing the intensity of feeling in India regarding necessity for revision of the Sevres treaty, in which Turkey was severely treated.

The viceroy points out that Moslem troops fought under the British flag against Turkey with the understanding that Great Britain would keep her promise not to weaken the Sultan's position when peace was made.

This promise, the Moslems declare, has been broken and their supreme ruler reduced to an ignominious position.

THREE PERISH IN CHEBOYGAN FIRE

Neighboring Fire Companies
Save Entire City from Destruction by Blaze

By United Press Leased Wire
Cheboygan, Mich. — The business section of Cheboygan was a pile of charred wood and bricks Thursday following the $500,000 fire which destroyed four business blocks and took the lives of three persons.

Prompt dispatch of fire apparatus from Gaylord and Grayling, nearby cities, saved the entire city from falling.

The fire started in the Frost-Kessler building, spreading across the street to the National bank building.

The dead: Frank J. Hohler, Edward Laway and George Tobias.

Hohler and Laway were crushed under a brick wall. The Tobias boy, 12, was suffocated.

Miss Jeannette McDonald, night operator at the telephone exchange, was the heroine of the fire. She stuck to her post in the Frost-Kessler building until flames drove her out. Before she left she had called the fire department and aroused a number of volunteer fighters.

Kansas City, Mo. — Industrial peace in the coal fields of western states hinges on outcome of wage meetings of operators of the Trans-Mississippi association and union miners here Thursday.

BOARD HEDGES EXPENSES WITH BUDGET FENCE

Drastic Action is Taken to Prevent County Department-tal Overdrafts

BOOST THEIR OWN SALARY,
Supervisors Decide They Cannot Get Along on Old
Pay of $4 a Day

Members of the county board increased their daily compensation from $4 to $5 shortly before they adjourned Wednesday afternoon.

The increased met with strenuous opposition on the part of several members, who contended that salaries generally were headed down instead of up.

To substantiate his position, William Book of Seymour, who was opposed to the increase, recalled that the compensation of several county employees was cut during the November session.

Those who supported the raise said it was impossible for them to pay their bills and lodging on their pittance to say nothing about being reimbursed for their time.

A rising vote was called for and less than a dozen members remained in their seats.

THANKS FOR RYAN
In compliance with a resolution adopted earlier in the day, compensation was allowed members who answered roll call on Feb. 23 and 24 when a quorum failed to report.

A few members were willing to make no extra charge, but this did not meet with the approval of those who came from a distance through one of the worst storms of recent years and remained here over night.

Each member was permitted to say whether he wanted one or two days' compensation as his name was called.

WAGES TOO HIGH; ROADS CAN'T KEEP EQUIPMENT FIXED

Adjustment to Peacetime Basis
Cannot Come in This Situation, Walber Says

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — Railroads, because of paying high wages, are able to maintain equipment for immediate requirements.

When business resumes, they will have an accumulation of locomotives and cars out of order which will have to be placed in serviceable condition.

These claims were made before the United States railroad labor board Thursday by James G. Walber, representing eastern lines, in supporting the application of roads for permission to reduce wages.

"So long as wages must be maintained upon a war time level the roads will be prevented from adjusting their conditions to peacetime basis," said Walber. "If their income is to be absorbed by wartime scales of pay, corresponding reductions must be made in working forces."

The bill was lost recently by four yeas when it was under suspension of rules, which calls for a two-thirds vote.

Russia Will Feel Like Prodigal Son At Genoa Meeting

Economic Conference is Looked Upon as End of Soviet Nation's Isolation—World Revolution is Sidetracked for Time.

By United Press Leased Wire
Moscow. — All classes in Russia except the great mass of ignorant peasantry, look forward to the Genoa conference as the first step towards reunion with the outside world.

Merchants, college professors, army men, newspapermen—all see in the convalescing approach release from the isolation which has been imposed upon this country since 1917.

To official Russia—the Kremlin and the communist party about 300,000 strong—Genoa means achievement of long cherished ambition of official recognition by the world at large.

It means an opportunity to lay a real foundation of government. It is a mixed blessing, because it means abandonment, for the time being at least, of the great idea of world revolution and a return to the principle of nationalism.

The rest of Russia will benefit more than the politicians.

"It will at least give us some idea as to what to expect," a merchant said.

"Genoa means what? Commerce with the rest of the world may be expected on a large scale immediately."

"It is the beginning, I think, of better times," a college professor, a former social revolutionary, said. "It is true that obtaining credits will give the communist administration a new lease on life. But better a communist administration for a few years more and a return to world trade and a chance to begin rebuilding Russia, than things as they are today."

TRAIL PRESIDENT SOUTH TO GET VIEW

House Leaders Want Some Idea Where Harding Stands on Soldier Bonus

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — The ever troublesome soldier bonus question dogged President Harding Thursday as he went into the south for a seashore vacation.

Having been unable to reach the president Wednesday while he was making arrangements for his departure, the congressional members of the house ways and means committee Thursday decided to either send one of their number south to talk with Harding or write a joint letter, in an effort to get a complete and final expression from the executive as to whether he will veto the pension-benefit bonus bill now before the house.

Apparently not sharing the fear of many members as to the president's attitude, Representative Mondell, republican house leader, reiterated Thursday his plan to bring the bonus up in the house for a vote on Monday, March 20.

Washington. — The navy expects to train 12,000 men at Goat Island and San Diego, Calif., and a smaller number at Great Lakes, near Chicago.

GRAASS WINNING INDORSEMENT OF ATTORNEYS HERE

Appleton Lawyers Feel Green
Bay Judge Would be Good
Congressman

Appleton attorneys as a general rule look with considerable favor on the candidacy of Judge Henry Graass, Green Bay, for member of congress from the Ninth district.

One or two men declined to commit themselves, but the majority indorsed the Green Bay man.

Judge Graass has not stated he will be a candidate but considerable pressure has been placed on him by his friends in Green Bay. They are confident that he will consent to be a candidate.

Here is what Appleton lawyers have said about Judge Graass and the congressional situation:

P. S. Bradford—I am heartily in favor of Judge Henry Graass of Green Bay for congress from the ninth district. Judge Graass is an excellent citizen, a capable man and would be a real representative of the district. I know of no other man more capable for the office than Judge Graass.

John Morgan—I have known Judge Graass for some years. He is a man of ability and has made an able record in the district court. I feel if elected to congress that he has the qualities to make a competent representative, and can be an honor to the district.

J. L. Johns—Naturally, I have been quite close to the political situation in this district for the past sixty days. There is being played at this time the greatest game of politics that this state has seen for a number of years. The stakes are great, and we are going to see one of the bitterest campaigns that has ever been had in this state.

In the contest of the party machinery at this time is very vital to both the conservatives and the progressives. Just now I am a most interested spectator. Judge Graass's name has been mentioned for some time for congress. I have known Judge Graass for a number of years. I have practiced before him in his circuit court and know that he is a very capable judge, and I see no reason, if he was nominated and elected to congress, why he would not make an able congressman. Of course, it will depend a great deal upon the principles a candidate stands for and who is backing him in the campaign.

The complexity of a political situation is being played at this time. The time has come when candidates must let people know where they stand.

Fred V. Heinemann—In my opinion the candidates for congress from this district are not yet all out. In the congressional election next fall the voters will be faced with a choice between a man who will be presented to the voters, irrespective of party issues and platforms the prevailing issue will be "wet or dry." The drys will attempt to put in a dry congressman in this district and the wets will vote for the candidate who declares for light wines and beer.

The complexity of a political situation is being played at this time. The time has come when candidates must let people know where they stand.

J. P. Frank—Judge Graass, in my opinion, would make an ideal man for congress and if he could be induced to become a candidate it would afford me much pleasure to contribute my support towards his success.

WEATHER MAN HINTING AT SNOW FOR TONIGHT

"Couple of more days like this and we'll be getting the old bus ready" is getting to be the common expression these balmy days.

Snow and ice is rapidly disappearing but there is plenty of indication that a new supply will soon arrive to take its place.

The weather man hints there may be a little snow or rain tonight but the temperature for the next few days will remain about the same.

Thus far there has been no noticeable increase in the level of the river and none is expected until in April unless the weather should become abnormally warm. Reports from the Wolf river indicate the river level has not increased enough to effect the level of Lake Winnebago.

Treaty Foes To Drag Wilson Into Battle

THINK SENATE MAY DEADLOCK ON SALES TAX

President Harding is Content to Await Developments in Soldier Bonus Issue

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington. — The White house officially announces that President Harding still favors either a sales tax or a postponement of the cash payments on the soldier bonus.

The president himself said it he knew that while he disliked to disapprove those who said the administration was changing with the weather, the fact was the executive had not altered his position on the bonus issue.

This information is impossible when it was suggested that Chairman Fordney had brought to the White house details of the modified plan of the house ways and means committee whereby $80 was to be the maximum cash given service men who served on this side and $82.50 to those who served overseas.

HEARD FORDNEY PLAN
Although Chairman Fordney discussed the bonus question with the president, the latter is represented at the White house as having failed to approve or disapprove the Fordney plan.

The news of President Harding's insistence on his original position of postponement or the enactment of a sales tax to raise the needed revenue has started all sorts of speculation as to what's behind Mr. Harding's move.

He knows of course that a sales tax is impossible because there are not enough votes to get it through. The house on the other hand faces an election this autumn and is more or less pledged by its leaders to take some sort of action.

EXPECT DEADLOCK
The upshot of the whole situation is unquestionably a deadlock in the senate. When 44 members of congress have to stand for reelection on a vital issue can be evaded. Some expression must be had or the matter becomes troublesome either to the senate or to the house.

Warrior, too, will be cast in favor of the house bill. Indeed, both parties will go on record as favoring the new bonus plan but when the bill reaches the senate, a different situation will confront it. In the first place, only one-third of the senate is in for reelection. Even if every one of those men voted for the bonus bill, it wouldn't be enough to pass it.

The chances are the bonus bill will have hard sledding in the senate. The proponents of a sales tax are numerous in the senate. It may mean the house bill strikes the senate.

Meanwhile President Harding sees no necessity of approving the house measure and sees on the contrary a great deal of tactical advantage in standing pat. Even if every one of those men voted for the bonus bill, it wouldn't be enough to pass it.

EPIDEMICS CAN'T FLOURISH IN U. S.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago. — America today stands well guarded against the ravages of nationwide epidemics, Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, chairman of the council of health and public instruction of the American Medical association, declared Thursday.

"Physicians and scientists, through the development of new preventatives, made sweeping epidemics of disease virtually a thing of the past," he said.

Dr. Vaughan, attending the national congress on medical education here, asserted the greatest development in medical science during the last year has been held in the field of preventatives.

"A general breaking down of prejudices and superstitions was said by Dr. Vaughan to have opened the way to achievement for the modern scientist."

"The public is no longer suspicious of the 'medicine man,'" he said. "The public has learned to trust him and as a consequence it is much safer from disease."

JACKKNIFE IN HANDS OF SURGEON SAVED DYING BOY'S LIFE

By United Press Leased Wire
Cincinnati, O. — When Dr. C. C. Payne, realized John Washington, two-year-old boy, was about to die and he had no time to send for surgical instruments, he operated with a pocket knife.

The child had stopped breathing when Dr. Payne slit open the wind pipe with his knife instrument, and permitted the passage of air into the lungs. A peanut lodged in the throat was causing suffocation. The peanut was later removed and the child was rapidly recovering Thursday.

ILLINOIS UPSETS COAL STRIKE PLAN; TO MAKE OWN PACT

Precedent May Mean Weakening of Lewis' Power and End of Threatened Walkout

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — The Illinois miners Thursday guard the only loophole through which settlement of the threatened nationwide coal strike may be effected, according to the general belief of government officials here.

Secretary of Labor Davis believes, it is learned authoritatively that the Illinois district agreement will be made and that other districts will follow in reaching separate conclusions with their operators.

OTHERS MAY FOLLOW
It is estimated by responsible authorities that at least 75 per cent of the workers would begin to sign separate district agreements if the Illinois "experiment" is proven successful.

Certain portion of laborites, however, believe such agreements would work for the detriment of the national organization and result in "overthrow" of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who has staunchly opposed state action.

Operators, on the other hand, are enthusiastic over the turn of affairs. State agreements can be made more easily because the arrangements can be suited to local conditions, they say. It will not mean breaking up the union they maintain, because the national union is essential to a peaceful arrangement.

HARDING'S TRAIN TRAVELS SECRETLY

President Will Take Cruise in Private Yacht Along
Florida Coast

By United Press Leased Wire
Savannah, Ga. — President Harding, enroute to Florida for a vacation, breaking up the winter season here Wednesday night and in reporting on the recent rivers and harbors congress at Washington, said that the revelation that the waterway was no longer sectional but a national project.

ARMY OF 115,000 BAD FOR COUNTRY, PERSHING WARNS

Proposed Cut by Congress
Leaves Force Too Small for Domestic Emergencies

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — The country will be without an armed force large enough to handle domestic emergencies, "let alone possible foreign trouble or invasion," if congress cuts the army to 115,000 enlisted men, General Pershing declared Thursday before the house military affairs committee.

Told by Chairman Kahn that the army appropriations bill soon to be introduced would recommend 115,000 enlisted men, Pershing said: "Well, all I can say is the people will suffer."

Senator Robinson Calls 4-power Treaty An Alliance Based on Force

FIGHT GROWS MORE TENSE
Democrats Think Wilson Ought to Come Out in Open if
He Objects to Pact

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — Demanding amendment of the four-power Pacific treaty in at least two particulars, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, Democrat, in a speech to the senate Thursday declared:

1. That the treaty is an alliance based on the use of force.
2. That it imposes on the United States the same obligation to help other nations which was in article X of the league of nations covenant.

The Democratic split over the treaty grew worse Thursday as the result of careful efforts by treaty opponents to bring Woodrow Wilson into the fight.

TRY "SMOKE OUT" SCHEME
At the same time efforts to "smoke Wilson out" were under consideration by senators who believe that if the former president is against the treaty and wants it rejected he ought to say so openly.

Some Democratic senators resented the report that Wilson was in a coalition with Senator Borah, Republican irreconcilable leader, against the pact. Borah Thursday continued to deny that he had received a letter from Wilson.

One Democratic senator who said he would follow Wilson's lead if he knew what it was, declared that in his opinion anti-treaty senators were attempting to use the former president's name and influence without proper authority.

CONTINUE FIGHT Big guns on both sides were ready Thursday to continue the treaty fight.

Senator Underwood, Democratic leader, was preparing to speak in support of the treaty. He may get into the debate Thursday or Friday.

Reed, Missouri, Democrat, and Johnson and Borah, Republicans, also were nearly ready to enter the fray. Shields, Tennessee, Democrat, announced his speech would be "virtually a repetition of what I said last week against the league of nations covenant."

Taking their cue from Lodge's speech Wednesday, the opposition senators intended to assail the treaty as worthless, because Lodge said it was innocuous.

INCOME TAX TO BE SHORT MILLIONS

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — The 1921 income taxes will bring the government $2,500,000,000 which is about $750,000,000 below the total received last year, treasury statisticians estimated Thursday.

The first quarterly payments will reach no more than $100,000,000 which is $100,000,000 below the quarterly average of last year, it is believed.

VALLEY JEWELERS HEAR BUSINESS IS GETTING BETTER

President of National Association Talks to Fox Valley Society

Edward H. Hufnagel of Mount Vernon, N. Y., president of American National Retail Jewelers association, addressed members of Fox River Valley Jewelers association at their afternoon and evening sessions in the French room of the Hermann house Wednesday. Jewelers were present from Green Bay, DePere, Kaukauna, Seymour, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, New London, Berlin, Waupaca and Clintonville.

OPTIMISTIC VIEW
J. R. Chalmers of Oshkosh, chairman of Fox River Valley Jewelers association, president at both meetings. President Hufnagel is on his way home from the Pacific coast and touched on business conditions of the country generally and particularly with reference to the jewelry trade. He took an optimistic view of the coming year and expressed the opinion there would be an improvement in all lines of business.

Jewelers still are required to pay an excise tax on sales and President Hufnagel with other members are endeavoring to have it removed. They do not object to a sales tax providing all other lines of business is included, but object to the present burden, particularly since it has been removed from most other lines. Gustav Keller also made a brief address.

The association accepted the invitation of Berlin to hold its next meeting in that city.

SEVERAL TRY FOR U. S. POSITIONS

For several months examinations have been held for computers to serve in the ordinance department at large. These jobs have not been filled and again are open for application till May 2.

Another examination for an assistant observer for the weather bureau will be held here again March 22. These examinations has been held several times during the last year but the position remains open. Mr. French is anxious to give any information to prospective applicants, so that these jobs may be filled if possible.

RELIEVE VALLEY LINES OF GREEN BAY PHONE CALLS

Green Bay Now Has Direct Line Through Plymouth to Milwaukee

Appleton users of long distance telephones were given a much faster service to north and south Thursday when ten copper wires between Green Bay and Milwaukee were connected at Plymouth. Calls from Green Bay and northern points now are sent direct to Milwaukee over the new circuit.

All of this business was being carried formerly over the ten wires passing through Appleton but these lines now are left free for a larger local business. A further improvement to Appleton subscribers will result by Friday night, J. T. Quinlan, district manager, announces, when ten copper wires from Milwaukee to Appleton via Plymouth will be ready for use. Service will be just doubled, because there will be 20 wires out of the city, 10 via Plymouth and 10 via Oshkosh. The service will not be normal, however, because the Appleton exchange has 40 wires in operation when everything is in good condition.

"The three-minute limit still is in force, however," said Mr. Quinlan. "We are trying to accommodate everybody but must limit the time of calls for the present."

Linemen working in the country every hour while there is daylight are hampered by the large amount of water standing on the land. It is four feet deep in places, but the men are making good progress in spite of this handicap, Mr. Quinlan says.

The flagman blew his whistle repeatedly and waved his signal frantically in his effort to attract the attention of the driver.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

WANT $260,000 IN STATE FOR RUSSIA

Outagamie County Committee Trying to Raise This Community's Share

Every effort is being made by the Outagamie county committee of Russian Famine Relief to induce the people to help the millions of starving in the Volga Valley in Russia. Not only money but such food as grain, beans, cheese and condensed milk and all old clothing except shoes are being solicited by the committee of which A. G. Oosterhous is chairman.

By proclamation, Gov. John J. Blaine has set aside the week which began on March 5 as Wisconsin Famine week and he urges the people to cooperate with the committee. No quota is set for Wisconsin but the state hopes to raise $260,000. Cheese and condensed milk, other food products and medicines will be sent to Russia where it will be distributed by the American Friends Service committee.

The American Friends who are known as the Quakers have every means of rapid distribution of material. Although many clothes are needed in the famine region, the committee is urging the need of funds for transportation in this country and to Europe. Russian railroads carry famine relief supplies free of charge but transportation cost in this country and to Europe is large.

ONCE A TRUCK IT IS ALWAYS A TRUCK

That is the Way Attorney General Answers F. V. Heinemann's Inquiry

J. E. Meersersmidt, assistant attorney general, has told District Attorney Fred V. Heinemann that a motor vehicle is a truck if it is constructed on a chassis ordinarily used in truck construction.

The question as to what is a truck arose when an Appleton man said he wanted to construct a camp house on a Reo chassis and wanted to know whether the vehicle would require an automobile or a truck license. According to the assistant attorney general's opinion, the vehicle must be classed as a truck because it is built on equipment ordinarily used for trucking purposes. At first thought, it was believed the vehicle could be operated under an automobile license because it was to be used for touring only.

TRADES COUNCIL WANTS SCHNEIDER FOR CONGRESSMAN

Coalition of Farmer-Labor and Progressive Forces is in Prospect

The candidacy of George J. Schneider of Appleton for congress from the Ninth district was endorsed at a meeting of the Appleton Trades and Labor council Wednesday night in Trades and Labor hall. A committee was appointed to meet with committees from Kaukauna, Green Bay and Marinette Trades and Labor councils Saturday in Green Bay to discuss the advisability of perfecting an organization of farmer-labor and progressive forces in the Ninth district.

F. J. Johnston and Helm Husner debated the question of city planning at the meeting. Mr. Johnston upheld the affirmative side of the question and Mr. Husner the negative side. No decision was given. General discussion of the question followed the debate. A number of farmers attended the meeting.

Florence Reed

"THE BLACK PANTHER'S CUB"

— OF INTEREST —

CHICAGO HERALD AND EXAMINER Jan. 11, 1922
A picture far out of the ordinary in tone, plot and presentation is "The Black Panther's Cub" at the Ziegfeld. It gives Florence Reed four distinct roles, that of the Black Panther, a vicious and avaricious denizen of Paris' palatial underworld; Faustine, a beautiful and bloodthirsty empress of ancient times, and that of the young and altogether lovely daughter of the Black Panther, reared in ignorance of her notorious parentage. Again, Miss Reed appears as the mother, a shadow of the once glorious courtesan, now a gray and wrinkled old woman.

The actress meets the demands of all these versatile parts with wonderful histrionic skill. The ordinary "dual role" is but a pigmy beside these consummate efforts, and it is doubtful if the screen has ever seen their equal in the hands of one player.

The picture has an undertone of awe-inspiring tragedy and reality. Yet through it all there runs a throbbing tale of love. It is a palpitating story with its varied scenes, colorful to be an unusual degree. The scenes and sets boast more than ordinary elegance.

The screen version is an adaptation of Ethel Donohoe's story suggested by Swinburne's poem "Faustine," and it is the initial offering of W. K. Ziegfeld as a film producer—an auspicious one, we will say, and a premiere that it will be hard to live up to.

News Item And 'Ad' Are Quite A Bit Different

This little abbreviation is a frequent source of trouble in the Post-Crescent office. Every now and then the word is used promiscuously by persons telephoning the office. Just the other day a gentleman called the office and said he had a little "ad" for the paper. The "ad" proved to be an item announcing the birth of a bouncing baby boy.

The Post-Crescent private telephone operator declares the abuse of the poor little word "ad" would drive her to drink if it were not for the eighteenth amendment. Someone telephoned and said, "I have an ad for the paper." The operator of course connects the person with the advertising department. Then it comes out that the "ad" isn't an "ad" at all but a news item, so the editorial department is put on the wire.

Again it happens that the person calling asks for the editorial department. As soon as a reporter gets on the wire the person begins, "I have an ad for you." "Just a moment," the reporter breaks in, "and I'll put you in touch with the advertising department." As before, it is revealed that the person talking has used the word "ad" instead of news item. Instead of saying, "I have a social item," or "I have a birth announcement," or "I have some news," the person says, "I have an ad," and then everything is spoiled because the word has been used in the wrong place.

"Ad" is simply an abbreviation of Webster's grand old word, "Advertisement." It is applied to anything which a newspaper is paid to print and not to news which a newspaper is always looking for and which it gratefully accepts with no charge for printing.

COLLEGE STUNTS GETTING NOTICE

Six acts of vaudeville, each one of which claims to be the headliner, will feature the Ariel show in Lawrence Memorial chapel on Tuesday evening for the benefit of the 1922 Ariel board. Enthusiasm among the actors is running high and extending to the students and townspeople alike who are anxious to see the best talent which the college can produce along the fun making line.

"What Happened to the Dean?" a skit as rapid moving and as full of humor as any act can be, is given much attention because of the elaborate preparations made by the many actors who will appear in it. The act includes an entire jazz orchestra, a soloist, a little dancing, much clever dialogue and a few other things which "girls' glee" put in which the musicians from the Lawrence Conservatory will take part is another attraction. The minstrel show will also be a drawing card especially because one of the men has the reputation of having all the girls fall for him. It is rumored that an "old timer" who has had professional experience will be back to put on an act.

CARRIER BOYS MEET TO ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Post-Crescent carrier boys will meet in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department rooms at 730 Thursday evening to elect officers for the club they organized last week.

The H.Y. club held its regular meeting Wednesday night. Routine business was transacted and it was decided to invite L. C. Rasey to deliver an address at the meeting to be held next Wednesday night.

INGLER TO TALK AGAIN AT "Y" MEETING FOR MEN

Special music will be provided at the mass meeting for men to be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The Lawrence College male quartet will sing several selections. Instrumental music will be given by the pupils of Prof. J. H. Lebe.

Prof. F. M. Ingler of Lawrence College will deliver the address. His subject will be "The End of an Imperfect Day."

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for the genuine Pinex. With directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. BUDGET FENCE TO HEDGE EXPENSES and those residing in or near Appleton claimed only one day's pay. A resolution was passed granting D. J. Ryan of Combined Locks, chairman, $300 for the services he had rendered in his numerous trips to the courthouse to sign orders and he was also given a rising vote of thanks in recognition of the satisfactory manner in which he had conducted the duties of his office. He responded with a brief speech.

STILL UP TROUBLE. All was not harmony, however, during the closing minutes of the session. Determined to put an end to overdrawings and to some of the departments spending more money than had been provided for in the annual budget, and to do away with the transferring of funds which was particularly aimed at road construction work, H. M. Culbertson introduced a resolution at the last moment that stirred up a hornet's nest.

Another resolution along the same lines was introduced by District Attorney Fred V. Heinemann which met with less opposition. After being revised it was adopted by the board by a vote of 24 to 15 in this form:

"Whereas deficits have been caused in various departments of the county government by overdrawing the appropriations placed in the general and other funds for the use of the several departments; therefore, be it,

RESOLVED, That the county treasurer be and is hereby instructed that the amounts appropriated by the county board for the various departments shall be used solely and only for the purposes of such departments and no authority exists in law to pay out any sums in excess of the specified amounts for such purposes. Be it further,

RESOLVED, That when the several departments have exhausted the sum levied, authorized and collected for the special needs and use of such departments, no further payments be made or be available for the use of said department without the further action of the board."

Reports of the various committees were read and adopted. Chairman D. J. Ryan called attention to the necessity of remodeling the circuit court room for the accommodation of women jurors and said that Judge E. V. Sawyer had suggested certain changes but that he was not in the city to present them. No action was taken. The chairman also called attention to the necessity of providing an office for the county nurse, but nothing was done in that direction.

The members were asked whether they preferred to meet early in April or during the latter part of that month and the general expression of opinion favored the calling of the session as soon after election as possible.

DENIES NEW TRAIN ON SOO RAILROAD

Railroad Official Says Report of Extension to Crandon is Unfounded

No intention of extending through passenger service to Chicago from Crandon through Neenah is entertained by the Soo Line according to a statement made by R. M. Lewis of Minneapolis, general passenger agent of the Soo Line, to the Oshkosh Association of Commerce. A copy of Mr. Lewis's communication has been received by Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of Appleton Chamber of Commerce. The statement is given out to contradict rumors that the railroad company was planning this extension of service.

"I regret to inform you," Mr. Lewis said, "that the rumor of an immediate improvement in passenger service from the territory north of Neenah is not a fact. We hope that when business conditions warrant, to make some improvement in passenger train service in that territory but there seems to be no possibility of this being accomplished in the near future."

THE NEWBERRY ISSUE

The Newberry issue will not down. It is coming up to plague those who favored and voted for the Michigan senator's whitewash and it will continue to do so for a long time to come. Senator Spencer who led the Newberry forces is kept constantly on the defense to justify his and the senate's action. One of Mr. Kenyon's last acts before he left the senate to become a federal judge was to denounce the seating of Senator Newberry and Senator Spencer has since been busy finding a reply to this attack.

Now we find that over in Michigan the senatorial contest is to be staged on the Newberry issue. Representative Patrick Kelly, a progressive Republican, who has been prominent in political affairs of that state for many years and is at present a member of the house from the sixth district, has announced his intention to oppose Senator Townsend's re-election. In a statement he has just issued he openly declares that he is to make the Newberry case the principal issue.

"To select a candidate for the senate ought not to be a difficult task for the party in Michigan," Mr. Kelly says. "The people should be able to make this nomination practically without the expenditure of money. The election will be an important one for Michigan. The results will be gratifying just in proportion as they show that all political methods involving expenditure of great sums of money have been condemned."

The only way condemnation can be expressed is to defeat Senator Townsend. There is no question but what Senator Townsend's mistake in voting for the seating of Newberry will be the greatest single factor operating against him. Just as in Wisconsin, in time, Senator Lenroot will find that his vote for Newberry will come home to roost and help to defeat him. We do not know whether Mr. Kelly will win the Michigan senatorship or not, but whether he does or does not Senator Townsend has made himself exceedingly vulnerable and will be on the defense throughout the campaign. People in Michigan are much aroused over the question and there are hundreds of thousands of voters who believe that the political self-respect of the state can be regained only by repudiating the seal of approval which the senate placed on Mr. Newberry's purchased seat.

EXAGGERATED NATIONAL EMOTIONS

Prominent German citizens express surprise at what they call the "exaggerated nationalism" of German propagandists living in the United States. They cannot understand why threats were made that Maximilian Harden would be insulted if he lectured in the United States, and they are incensed at the suggestion of Fritz Hein Reinesch, published in the Berlin Germania, that Germans in America, or rather American citizens of German birth, should demand self-determination.

The war is over, and so is hate. The German people are developing a democratic system of government. Americans of German birth are loyal to the United States. It is only a few perverted agitators, like Reinesch, who cannot adjust their views and their vision to the republican ideas of the rest of the world.

It seems to be a fact that "extreme nationalism" is a disease that affects many persons of different races, not only in the United States but everywhere, who live in one country and try to stay in sentiment with the country from which they departed. The people of the country which they left keep on changing, while they cling to obsolete ideas, and they are in accord neither with their fellow-citizens nor their former countrymen, because they alone remain set in a long ago.

THE CHANGING WORLD

Is Russia going to take America's place as the melting pot of nations? Joseph Remenyi thinks so. He is the immigration expert of the Cleveland Trust company. Mr. Remenyi says: "I believe the Russia of the future will stand in the same relation to the European immigrant as the United States in the 19th century."

Two important circumstances that might bring this change are the European peasant's dislike of prohibition and his craving for open-air landed life in Russia in preference to congestion, tenements and mill life of our country. If the tide of immigration refuses to flow our way again, later on it may become difficult to find enough men to do the hard labor. The native-born American wants to work with brain instead of muscle. He wants a white collar job.

A bitter pill to swallow, this—that America may cease to be the world's magnet. Yet it will come eventually. Possibly not in our day. But a century from now, maybe less, the El Dorado of riches and freedom sought by emigrants will be Russia, Siberia, Brazil and Australia. Australia and Brazil in particular are likely to become leading nations. Our vanishing forests are typical of the way we are emptying our larder of natural resources.

The world current of immigration changes every few centuries. Sometimes the shifting is due to exhaustion of natural resources, sometimes to geographical or climatic changes. What now is the Mediterranean sea once was a fertile valley—from 10,000 to 40,000 years ago. In that valley lived a race of prehistoric men, barbarous by modern standards, yet probably convinced among themselves that they had the last word in civilizations. The Atlantic ocean broke through, sending into the fertile plain a river that widened into a sea. The inhabitants migrated—probably scattering into Africa, Arabia and southern Europe. Since then, the world has had thousands of racial migratory movements, including the westward wanderings of the yellow Mongols. The shifting of peoples goes on forever.

PROSECUTING SHIPPING PROFITEERS

Indictments are not convictions. They are jury conclusions that those charged with violations of the law should be prosecuted. They signify that the jury believes there is sufficient evidence, material or circumstantial, for the state to undertake to show guilt and demand punishment.

Although the indictment of Charles W. Morse, his three sons and seven other men, all more or less prosperous, for alleged conspiracy against the government in wartime transactions with the shipping board, is not proof of guilt, it is hailed by the public as a real attempt to expose profiteering and bring down the hand of the law on what is one of the most execrable of crimes.

The facts which have become known to the public indicate that the case against Morse is very strong. The public has no desire to pre-judge him, but it must be admitted that many circumstances surrounding the activities of the shipping board during the war are apt to prejudice his case.

There has been so much pretense and bombast at Washington in regard to the punishment of profiteering and graft during the war, and so little actually done, that the public naturally is skeptical of the government's sincerity and wants to see an example made of at least some of the worse offenders.

The Police Submarine

The submarine is to be a good little boat henceforth. It will say "please" when making requests and it will not omit the "thank you." It is to be a model of politeness.

In the next war, the submarine commander will megaphone respectfully to the captain of a passenger liner.

"You won't mind, I trust, if I toss a torpedo in your direction?"

"Not in the least," the captain will obligingly reply. "Have you got proper accommodations for us down there?"

"The very best. Dozens of state-rooms, a charming saloon, a beautiful ballroom, a grand piano, and every modern convenience."

The passenger boat will then be emptied of its passengers who will be received upon the submarine by a reception committee composed of submarine notables. The address of welcome, lasting not more than two hours, will come next on the program; and after the address an official in a tuxedo coat with a gardenia in his buttonhole will introduce the visitors from the passenger boat to the members of the submarine crew. Then a tour will be made of the submarine, and sentiments of good will and admiration will be reciprocally exchanged. An imposing march will follow as a matter of course, and, towards the end of the ball given in the ballroom, the torpedo will be discharged, and the sinking of the great passenger liner will serve as the spectacular climax of a delightful evening.

It is strange that the world has not before perceived the social potentialities of the submarine. We are glad to know the submarine of the future is to be so charming and civilized.—MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE (Rep.)

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail. Write in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual case cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

A SERMON FOR STOUTS

A reader whose front name is George contributes the text for today's sermon, stout folks. I suggest that the thin folks skip this column today.

"I am a man fifty years of age weighing 230 pounds and troubled greatly with my stomach and digestion. My stomach becomes distended and I feel a pain in the vicinity of my appendix. I feel sure it is refuse that is crowding my organs. I am five feet and nine inches tall. What do you think of abdominal supporters or belts?" (George)

I shall endeavor to point out the proper procedure, and then let us hope George will do it. One of the hardest physiological principles for the laity to grasp is that neither health nor strength nor yet endurance may be increased one iota by eating more than the stomach is able to maintain normal weight. The simple truth is that all three of these desirable endowments are impaired or diminished by even moderate overeating.

Another George who discovered these things for himself had made great progress by the time he reached the age of 30 years, when he weighed 448 pounds and was very inactive and pudgy. Then he acquired a sense of humor, cut down on the feed, reduced himself to 150 pounds, wrote a classic on health and long life and actually did survive 72 years. Unfortunately George Cheyne's book is out of print now.

I remember when I was a young doctor and in my prime I used to treat my horse too well—gave him what the farmers along my "ride" all diagnosed at sight as "too many oats." Nearly killed the poor horse with misapplied kindness. She grew fat and short of breath and leggy and clumsy and her fine coat suffered from the overfeeding. But that was because I lacked good horse sense. No body who knows anything about horses would overfeed a good horse that way.

Horses are generally better nourished than humans. People who own horses have more regard for the proper nutrition of their horses than they have for their own nutrition. In many cases, I don't know whether George owns a horse, but it is quite evident that George needs some aid from a good veterinarian, as I received from the one I consulted about my horse.

There is one great truth in the text George gives us today, where he speaks of his stomach becoming distended. That is the seat of George's trouble. He distends that stomach altogether too often. If he would care to remain with us yet a little while he had better break himself of the distending habit for it will be the death of him before long. I don't like to be harsh on a fellow, but George ought to Karell three days a week. I'll be glad to send George or any of my readers the Karell regimen for weight reduction upon request provided of course the inevitable stamped envelope is enclosed for reply.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Is it true that doctors do not prescribe the general use of minute quantities of iodine or iodides as a preventive of goitre in goitrous sections of the country, because they want the cases of goitre to develop fully and give them more work?—(Mrs. L. R. E.)

Answer—Whatever course or position a doctor takes in these matters, some one is sure to cry "mercenary." An excellent way to prevent goitre under other conditions is due to iodine deficiency is by using for table salt any staple salt to which sodium iodide has been added in the proportion one to five thousand, about 1½ grains of sodium iodide to the pound. For an individual who already shows a tendency toward thyroid enlargement, much more iodine should be used—about a grain each day for perhaps six or eight weeks, or a drop of tincture of iodine twice a day in water, for six or eight weeks.

Baby Swears Off
You teach that cocoa is not good for young children. My baby, aged 26 months, has refused to take any milk for the past year. He will eat a little on his cereal but that is all. Recently I tried putting cocoa with his milk and he takes two or three glasses every night and that is all he will take for his supper. I use one teaspoonful of cocoa, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, half a glass of boiling water and from two to two and one-half glasses of milk. I do not boil it, but just warm it. Will it hurt him?—(Mrs. H. B. N.)

Answer—Perhaps the baby would take the milk as well if you used caramel (burnt sugar) instead of raw sugar to flavor the milk. Cocoa itself has a certain amount of food value, but this is insignificant. It stimulates the nervous system and the kidneys, and bedtime isn't a good time to do that in the case of a child.

Bromide
Is sodium bromide all right to take for headache? Is it safer than aspirin?—(Mrs. K.)

Answer—It is safer than aspirin, the sodium bromide is in a safe ratio with it. I would suggest sodium chloride (common salt) instead.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinions

Educating Lawyers

"The lawyers know too much," complains a certain "free verse" poet, only to be flatly contradicted by such distinguished representatives of the legal profession as Chief Justice Taft and Elihu Root, who declared at a recent gathering of state bar associations in Washington that they know far too little. To correct what they feel to be a deplorable condition, the lawyers in this national conference adopted a resolution recommending that two years of general college work be required of every applicant for admission to the bar. This action, the SCRANTON TIMES says, is preliminary to a drive which will be made in all state legislatures to secure the enactment of this provision as a prerequisite to practicing law. In this movement the state bar associations will receive some support from the editorial professions, but by no means all papers approve it.

There is apparently a well-recognized sentiment among both the standards of the bar need considerable elevating. While restrictions have been placed by law upon "most of the professions which deal intimately with the affairs of society, as well as with many of the vocations of trade and commerce," the MONITOR continues, this "bar of the law" is strikingly and significantly lacking of these regulatory measures applicable to the legal profession, and the bar has, seemingly by common consent, been regarded "as self-regulatory." But there are convincing indications, the MONITOR continues, that this "automatic censorship" is not automatically largely because "the comparative ease with which membership in the bar is achieved and maintained, under present rules and practices, does not seem to make for that strict discipline and regulation which the well-being of the general public demands." Hence the bar associations propose a revision of these rules and practices.

In advocating a college education for lawyers Chief Justice Taft declared that "if a man cannot secure the preparation which an average man should have to be a lawyer, then he should seek some other avenue of livelihood. We have all the lawyers we need now." However, in a law "is only less serious than it is in a physician," the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS feels, and it is "clear that something must be done to raise both the intellectual and moral standards of the profession." To that end the NEW YORK POST contends that "the time should be hastened when no one can become a lawyer who does not have the knowledge of history, literature and science implied in two years of general college training." With more stringent requirements for a profession which is already overcrowded, "there will be no more 'cheap' lawyers," the ST. JOSEPH NEWS PRESS thinks, and even if higher standards should fail to affect the number of applicants the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL feels that "they can at least make for efficiency and a better quality of service through weeding out incompetents and excluding insufficiently prepared candidates."

The CHICAGO NEWS quotes a former Chicago judge as deploring "the blunders committed by incompetent lawyers in the trial of cases, of the unavoidable reversals and delays due to such errors and the resulting expense and injustice to the poor man." The case of such conduct, the NEW HAVEN JOURNAL-COURIER holds that "no one is so much concerned to raise the standard of the profession as the poor, the foreigner and the friendless," because it is not, as a rule, the matured, educated practitioner who exploits this class, but rather "the commercialized 'quick' graduate to whom law is a means of getting a living—nothing more."

But if it is the ethical, and not the educational standards with which the bar associations are most concerned, the PITTSBURGH SUN is one of many who think that the efficacy of the proposed reform is "open to question." For "a great many of the legal principles afford no assurance of that high character and scrupulous honor that must animate the profession if it is properly to fulfill its mission." Indeed, the REPUBLICAN of the same city goes so far as to say that in instituting this educational requirement as a condition of admission to the bar, "the chief weakness of the legal profession would not be reached, for that weakness is moral rather than intellectual," and in the opinion of the paper, "the public whom they practice on would be better off if they were intellectually incompetent." Emphatically "elevation of legal standards is desirable," yet the DALLAS JOURNAL asserts that "fifty years of college training wouldn't make a lawyer."

Then there is another angle which makes the case for such a rule appear to the BUFFALO NEWS "as the stifling of opportunity." "There can't be any prospective rules of that kind for any desired attainment in America," protests the NASHVILLE RANGER, "many of the best lawyers the country ever produced were not trained through college or even inside of a law school," and "restrictions on young men who seek to achieve in conformity to the spirit of our institutions." While the motive is doubtless a desire "to elevate the tone of the profession," and "to keep it from being a mere tool of the unscrupulous," it is not to be presumed that this was to prevent a too protracted "undemocratic movement" as the

BIRMINGHAM NEWS sees it, would be to create "a legal caste," which would prove a danger because, as the PEORIA TRANSCRIPT holds, "it is necessary to the moral preservation of our courts that the bar shall be kept as near the people as the judges."

AMERICA SHOULD DEMAND PAYMENT FOR THE ITALIAN

By Pio Schinetti
Editor Il Secolo, Milan, Italy
Milan—"All Wilson's war promises came to an end during the armistice. The old militarism was to be destroyed and the first thing one did was to raise up a new militarism which cannot even be justified by the menace of a new peril. The four billion gold marks which Germany is to pay for the maintenance of foreign armies on the Rhine, armies which have the power of forcing the payment of impossible indemnities through the menace of ulterior occupation, are the profitable documents of the systematic perfidy and want of perception with which the treachery has been brought about. And Wilson cannot even boast of not having signed it."

"What can America do today to partly modify the effects of this very grave mistake? She can demand the payment of the enormous sums which she lent to the allies during the war. An unpleasant demand, and unjust if we consider that the burdens have not been equally distributed among the contending peoples and that the poorest are those who shed the most blood and spent the most money. But all the same a perfectly legitimate demand because it is founded on an indefeasible right. Since governments exist in Europe, which, having lost all sense of reality, are causing the ruin of the whole world by their vain pretensions, and since experience has shown that they will not listen to friendly advice for quiet economy and justice, it may be a good idea to ask them to produce their accounts. Those who want to spend billions on military occupation, in subsidizing their customers for partial alliances and for war preparations, ought first of all to pay their debt to America. This is crude but logical reasoning after the Washington conference and the substitution of Poincare for Briand."

"The states," continues the writer, "which do not want to be reduced to ruin will try to unite their efforts and will gladly leave France to moral isolation. The present policy of Paris parliamentary circles belongs to the tradition of vanity and suspicion . . . of European solidarity. Thus all the blows struck at the head of the promoters of this policy (we are sorry to have to count among them the most noble supporters of the doctrine of justice and humanity, men who are not old) will be so much gained for France as well as for the destinies of general civilization."

Mechanical Air Pilot

London—A writer in the Mail describes how a mechanical air pilot, the first to be fitted to an air express flying regularly on the cross-Channel airway, was demonstrated at the London Air Station, Croydon, yesterday.

A giant twin-engined Farman Goliath air express used by the Messageries Aeriennes for their service between London and Paris has been equipped with this latest device for fighting fog, and yesterday a Daily Mail representative ascended in this machine with twelve other passengers, and, standing beside the pilot, observed the wonderful mechanical brain in operation.

After climbing to a height of about 1,000 feet the pilot removed his hands and feet from the controls, and, leaning back in his seat, hands in pockets, let the mechanical pilot take charge. For half an hour the aeroplane, although traveling at a speed of about 80 miles an hour, flew so steadily that the passengers had no sensation of movement, the automatic pilot correcting each movement of the machine before it became perceptible to the human brain.

"Quicksilver operating electrically a compressed air motor, which obtains its power from the rush of wind as the aeroplane moves through the air, is the prime factor of this invention," said Mr. George Aveline, the inventor.

Fashions 5,000 Years Old

London—"Women's fashions reflect civilization's progress," said Miss M. Murry to a gathering at the Horniman Museum, according to a writer in the CHRONICLE. "Where women's fashions do not change but become stereotyped, as in China, no progress is made."

Miss Murry was lecturing on the results of the excavation work in Egypt. She is an associate of Professor Flinders Petrie at University College, and has spent much time in investigating the changes of fashion in Egypt. She has reconstructed pictures of its domestic life 5,000 years ago, and the results show similarity to many modern notions.

"Women's jewelry in those days," she said, "often bore a resemblance to present-day ornaments."

False hair was no new thing. Women wore wigs and fringes; and she showed some beautifully-made false hair with curled fringes taken from tombs.

Mother-in-law jokes also appear to have existed for a very long time. Miss Murry gave evidence of it in a picture of a King and Queen entertaining the mother-in-law with much ceremonial.

But it was noticeable that the food placed for the mother-in-law was exactly limited by comparison with the others, and it was to be presumed that this was to prevent a too protracted visit.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS FOR MEN

Gas Killing Humane

By Harry Hunt

Washington—Objection to the proposed use of lethal gas in putting to death in Nevada two men convicted of murder is based on unthinking sentimentality, says Brig. Gen. A. A. Fries, chief of the war department's chemical warfare section.

"Death by either carbon monoxide or hydrocyanic acid gas is instantaneous, painless and without struggle," General Fries says. "It is easier than death by chloroform or ether."

"If you and I were sitting here and there were some means of your inhaling either of these gases, you would die in your chair without the slightest premonition of pain."

"Both these gases are odorless, tasteless and produce no irritating effects."

"Carbon monoxide tends to solidify by or coagulate the blood. This gas is found in all illuminating gas. It is the element that kills."

Hydrocyanic acid gas paralyzes the nervous system. This gas leaves absolutely no mark of its action.

"In executing criminals by this method, there would be no need to wait until they were asleep or even until night."

"The condemned person would never know when the hour of his death approached—or came. One second he would be alive. The next he would be dead."

"The infusion of the gas into the air or his cell could not be detected by him. When sufficient of the gas had mixed with the air to make it effective, the man would simply collapse—dead!"

As a humane method of execution General Fries maintains lethal gas is as much ahead of the gallows or the electric chair as these are ahead of the drawing and quartering of the ancients.

Day Of Central Doomed

BY HERVEAU CARRINGTON
Scientist and Author

Probably the day of the wireless phone is near at hand. "Exit 'central'—enter 'ether of space'!"

When wireless phones come into practical daily use, one of the most delightful things about them will be that there'll be no more "central."

We shall no longer hear the old refrain "I'm ringing yer parter!" only to be told after half an hour's wait that "the line is busy."

For, if we have wireless phones of our own, the ether of space will be open to us. We shall only have to "tune out" interfering parties in order to reach and talk to anyone we wish—provided the one we're calling is really at home.

What is the mechanism involved in wireless telephony?

First of all, there are two chief varieties of wireless waves—the "damped" and the "undamped." Damped waves die quickly. Undamped waves go on for a long time before they die out.

Until lately most wireless telephone waves have been damped waves. Hence they did not carry far. Undamped waves could not be satisfactorily obtained as they can be in wireless telephony.

But with the aid of recent improvements undamped waves are being made and more nearly obtained.

That means that the range of the wireless telephone is getting greater and greater.

The first method tried in attempting to produce undamped waves was the so-called "talking arc" in which the variations in the current were obtained by speech. The actual arc light "talked."

At first it was an uncanny feeling to hear a voice issuing from an arc light—"Spooky," in fact.

But now we're used to it. This method still is frequently used for advertising purposes.

The second method of producing undamped waves was by means of an alternating current dynamo, reaching more than 30,000 revolutions a minute. It was calculated that frequencies of approximately 40,000 a second were necessary to render wireless transmission of speech possible. The dynamo gave that number.

The method devised by Professor Essenden of the United States government utilized an alternating current of more than 30,000 cycles a second. No interruptions in the transmitted speech were heard in this system.

Poulsen, on the other hand, employed an electric arc operated in hydrogen gas, thus producing undamped oscillations.

Other devices later were added and greater perfection was made possible. Introduction of the audion was a great help. This is only a small glass globe and has like an ordinary electric light bulb.

It was exhausted of air and contained a fine coil of wire and a metal plate. These proved to be very sensitive and their sensitivity was increased by means of amplifiers which resemble audions in appearance but have the power of increasing sound so that a tiny signal is amplified many hundreds of times.

Q. What animal does the Shetland yarn come from? O. H. E.

A. Shetland yarn comes from sheep.

Q. What is the drug just discovered in Germany and claimed to be a cure for sleeping sickness? R. B.

A. The Public Health Service says that it is not known in this country what the drug is that is used by the Germans in treating sleeping sickness. The formula is being carefully guarded. It must be understood that the drug discovered by the Germans is used in the treatment of the African form of sleeping sickness. It is not the same disease that was reported in the newspapers about a year ago as having been prevalent in certain parts of the United States.

ONEIDA INDIANS MAY GET TITLE TO NEW YORK LANDS

Supreme Court of United States Decides Long Fight for Red Skins

Oneida Indians who came to the Wisconsin reservation from New York will share in the restoration of a tract of land in New York worth $4,000,000 at a conservative estimate. After a legal fight for eight years, the Oneida Indians in New York have won back the property which the whites held claim to an other tribe will share it among its members.

When the Oneida Indians came to Wisconsin to settle many years ago it was because they had been offered tracts of land in Wisconsin of ten acres for every one acre of the land which they held in New York. This promise was made when the Oneida reservation in New York was opened to the white men. More than 80 per cent of the tribe came to Wisconsin to find that the agreement was not substantial and the eastern Indians had to buy land in the Wisconsin reservation with the money which they had obtained from the sale of personal property. They bought the land from the Indians already there.

A small portion of the tribe refused to relinquish its right in New York, but in 1892, those Oneidas were removed to the swampy Onondaga reservation. A legal fight followed in which the decision has only recently been made by the United States Supreme court in denying the appeal of J. H. Boylan, one of the property owners and defendants in the suit brought by Chief, Honouet of the Oneidas. The Oneida lands are now situated in one of the finest residential tracts.

The Rev. C. Ripp of Bear Creek, formerly of Appleton, was a guest in the family of William Stoegbauer, 724 State-st., over night Tuesday while on his way to Colman to conduct a 40-hour devotional service.

Tenting on the Old Camp Ground. The Rev. A. L. McMillan and Daniel Debraal; The Last Rose of Summer. Mrs. Cornelius Riggles; Old Black Joe. Percy Blount; When You and I Were Young. Maggie. Mrs. Sarah Sweetser and Andrew Anderson; The Old Oaken Bucket. Robert Jarvis and Glen Smith; Sweet and Low. Mrs. Robert Jarvis and Mildred Gals; Juanita. Mrs. A. L. McMillan; Nearer My God to Thee. Mrs. McMillan and Glen Meidam; Flag of the Free sung by the mixed quartet; Home Sweet Home. Carl T. Elias, Mrs. Percy Blount, Helen Jean Babb, and Mrs. Robert Jarvis; The National Song, by the entire cast.

The songs were sung off stage by the mixed quartet consisting of Miss Vera Lockery, Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. Harold Babb, George Payzant, Robert Potter, Leonard Smith and Mr. McMillan. In the pantomime of the "Rock of Ages," representation was made of the triumph of Christianity over wealth, love, power and art in the human life. The production was presented under the direction of Mrs. McMillan who previously directed the same program in a Baptist church at LaCrosse.

Watch the Change when you shampoo our way

You who accepted the free trial bottle of Palmolive Shampoo know what these changes are. You have seen the silky texture which Palmolive gives your hair and admired the becoming satiny gloss.

It cleansed your scalp of every trace of clogging dirt and dandruff, leaving the delicate organism of each hair to do its natural work.

These results are due to the action of palm and olive oils in combination. These costly Oriental oils, famous for centuries as softening, relaxing, beautifying cleansers, are the basis of Palmolive Shampoo.

How they act

The softening effects of olive oil are responsible for the lovely gloss and softness. It produces the mildest, most penetrating lathers, which is given body and richness by the blending with palm oil.

This lather is far more than a surface cleanser. It enters every root and hair cell and purges them from dirt, oil and dandruff.

Yet this hair, which is so thoroughly cleansed, isn't dry, harsh or brittle. The soothing action of palm and olive oil keeps it soft and glossy.

You must fight dandruff

Even the healthiest scalps secrete a moderate amount of dandruff, which doctors call seborrhea and charge with most hair troubles.

It is harmless enough if, when you shampoo, it is thoroughly washed away.

But ordinary shampooing doesn't affect the dry, oily scales which withstand most cleansing. They accumulate until the hair cells are clogged.

This clogging prevents proper nutrition and your hair begins to come out. This is the danger signal.

The softening, penetrating lather produced by the blending of palm and olive oils penetrates the formation of scales, loosening and dislodging them from hair roots and scalp.

You need never fear dandruff if you shampoo with Palmolive.

If you didn't get the free 15-cent trial bottle of Palmolive Shampoo, fill out and mail the coupon to the Palmolive Company. We will gladly mail it, that you may learn the results which follow even the first Palmolive shampoo.

WANT COPP TO BE MAYOR CANDIDATE

Few New Developments in Political Situation in Electric City

Kaukauna.—Very little change is evident in the political situation in Kaukauna. As yet there are no developments in the mayoralty candidacy with the exception of discussion of a few men. Rumor has it that Howard Copp will possibly consent to run for the office although he has not made a statement regarding his intention. Mrs. Copp, however, has been in the limelight for some time and he has been approached by several voters.

Not much interest is apparent in the race for membership in the council. Otto Hass has circulated papers for alderman from the Second ward and as yet no opposition has developed. Mr. Hass will run to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alderman O'Connell some time ago.

There will be several candidates for city treasurer. Jules Mertes has circulated nomination papers. Jacob Miller also will run for the office. H. J. Mitchell, present city treasurer, has not declared his intention. There is a question as to whether the officer can succeed himself under the new general charter law. There are a few weeks left in which candidates may get their nomination papers circulated. Papers may not be filed before March 20 and they must be in the hands of the city clerk by March 23.

The discussion centered on the War Finance corporation, through which the government is making it possible for small country banks to make loans to farmers during the period of agricultural depression. The bankers adjourned to the Elwood hotel for dinner.

The following members of the association were present at the meeting: D. B. Reed and C. E. Gibson, Clintonville; R. J. Bestul, Scandinavia; William Dressler, Waupaca; George Ritchie and D. N. Here Is A New Kind Of Fudge You Might Like

Sunday afternoon is the time when most of the home made candy is accomplished at least, so it seems to the contest editor. You may go almost any place at tea time on Sunday night and they usually pass great lumps of dark brown fudge which melts in your mouth. Now the next time you have an entire Sunday afternoon in which to make candy, try making double fudge, chocolate and maple. It takes twice as long, but one hesitates to say that it is twice as good as just chocolate fudge. It is very good and well worth the experiment. A recipe for double fudge is given below.

DOUBLE FUDGE
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup cream
2 squares chocolate
1 tablespoon butter
Boil seven minutes, beat well and pour into buttered pan, then mix
2 cups brown sugar, butter size of walnut
1/2 cup cream
1 cup rolled nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
Boil ten minutes, then beat, pour over the fudge in the pan and cut in squares.—Mrs. Jacob Ashauer, R. 7.

COCOANUT FUDGE
4 cups sugar
2 cups cocoanut
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups cream
Vanilla flavor
Boil sugar, butter, cream and vanilla to the soft ball degree. Just before removing from the fire, add the cocoanut, stir in a cool place until it hardens, then put an inch thick into buttered pans and cut in squares.—Mrs. Jacob Ashauer, R. 7.

FUDGE
2 squares chocolate
1 teaspoon butter
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup sweet milk
Melt the chocolate in a granite pan until all is melted then add the butter and gradually the milk and sugar alternating. Boil until it forms a soft ball in hard water. Flavor with vanilla (or lemon) and stir until very thick and begins granulate, pour on a buttered platter and cut in squares.—Grace Olmsted, Clintonville, R. 4.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE
2 cups white granulated sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup cream
1/2 cake unsweetened chocolate
Put in the sugar and cream, and when this becomes hot put in the chocolate, broken up into fine pieces. Stir vigorously and constantly. Put in butter when it begins to boil. Stir until it creams, when beaten on a saucer or forms soft ball in cold water. Then remove and beat until quite cool and pour into buttered tins. Chopped walnuts, almonds or pecans can be added before stirring.—Miss Esther Plamann, R. 6.

FUDGE
3 cups sugar
1 cup milk or cream
4 or 5 tablespoons cocoa or 2 ounces of unsweetened chocolate
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Put sugar, milk and cocoa or chocolate into saucepan; stir and boil until it makes soft ball when tested in cold water; take from fire, add butter and vanilla, cool and stir until creamy. Pour on buttered plates and cut into squares.—Mrs. E. Buchman, Hortonville.

MAPLE FUDGES
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup milk
Butter size of walnut, mix, cook together until it will form a soft ball when a small portion is dropped in cold water. Take from fire, add 1/2 teaspoon maple flavor and beat well until it grains. Pour in buttered tins and mark in squares.—George Magnus, 729 Commercial-st.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE
1 cup milk or cream
2 cups sugar
1/2 cake chocolate
Butter size of walnut, cook until hardens when tested in cold water. Remove from stove, add vanilla and beat until creamy. Pour in buttered tins and mark in squares.—George Magnus, 729 Commercial-st.

FUDGE
2 cups white sugar
1/2 cup water
2 squares bitter chocolate
When it starts to boil, add butter the size of a walnut. Boil slowly until it forms a soft ball in water. Remove from fire and add butter the size of a walnut again. Do not stir but place it where it will cool quickly. When perfectly cold, add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and beat until creamy and thick. Nuts may be added. Pour on buttered plate.—Elizabeth Pfeil, 586 Eldorado-st.

MILLIONAIRE'S FUDGE
2 lbs. sugar, 1/2 pint cream, 1/2 lb. chocolate, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 lb. nuts, 1/2 lb. marshmallows. Cut the marshmallows into quarters and spread them over a large buttered pan. Chop the nuts and put them over the marshmallows. Boil the sugar, cream and chocolate together like everyday fudge. Adding the butter and vanilla when it's finished. Set it aside a short time to cool and then beat thoroughly. Do not let it become too cool as it must be hot enough to melt the marshmallows when poured over them.—M. E. Alper, 587, North-st.

Music Memory Contest NO. 27

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA
American Composer of the Present Day

John Philip Sousa was born in 1854 at Washington, D. C., of German-Spanish parents. He was educated as a violinist, but showed such marked ability as a conductor that at the age of 26 he was leading the United States Marine Corps Band. In 1892 he organized the famous Sousa Band, which has made four tours of Europe, and one of the entire world. As the "March King," Sousa has frequently been compared to Strauss, the "Waltz King." Like Strauss, Sousa has written many comic operas, of which "The Smugglers," "El Capitán," and "The Charlatan" are the most famous. But it is as a composer of marches, which are truly American in spirit, that Sousa has won world renown.

STARS AND STRIPES FOREVER

It has been said that Sousa's famous march, "Stars and Stripes Forever," is "a national anthem far more eloquent in Americanism than many of the tunes which bear the official seal." The energetic rhythm and spontaneous melody of this march arouse the patriotism of everyone. An example of nationality and form.

HALF OF CHILDREN IN COUNTY HAVE BODILY DEFECTS

County Nurse Finds 80 Out of 170 Children With Physical Ailments

More than 700 items of work done by county nurse, Miss Bertha Schultz, are included in her report for February which she submitted to the county health committee in its regular monthly meeting.

During the month, Miss Schultz visited 50 homes and five schools. She visited 85 children and 10 adults in their homes to give them advice and information concerning physical defects and condition. In the schools visited she inspected 170 children and found that nearly half, that is 80 of them, had some kind of defect or other which needed attention.

As a result of this inspection she notified 83 parents during the month concerning the condition of their children advising them to give the matter attention. Her inspection revealed a large percentage of children with dental defects. Of the 170, 48 had decayed permanent teeth. Dental care was secured for 16 of them through her efforts.

Twenty-five of the school children inspected had defects of vision and five of these were induced to wear properly fitted glasses. Twenty per cent of them had throat troubles and enlarged tonsils.

Help the Kidneys Fight That Cold

Colds and grip cause thousands of cases of kidney trouble. In any germ disease the system becomes filled with poisons which the kidneys must filter off. All too often this extra burden weakens the kidneys. Then you have constant backache, headaches and dizziness; you lack ambition, feel dull, nervous and depressed. Don't ignore these warnings! Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Home folks recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

An Appleton Case

Mrs. Theo. H. Lembcke, 827 Meade St., says: "I was annoyed with kidney weakness and suffered with dull nagging backaches and pains across my back. I felt tired and languid mornings and had no strength or energy. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They relieved me of the kidney annoyances and removed the backaches and pains."

Girls Dress On $90 A Year? It Can't Be Done, Young Women Here Say

Appleton Girls Declare it is Utter Impossibility to Get Along on So Meagre a Sum—Employers Agree With Them.

"Can a girl dress nicely on $90 a year? Only $90 a year? Why she cannot begin to dress in any style on $90 a year. It can't be done."

This is the universal judgment of Appleton girls representing practically every walk in life on the fight in Topeka, Kas., where employers maintain that girls in their employ should be able to dress nicely on $87.50. Appleton girls interviewed included stenographers, doctors assistants, private secretaries, store clerks, social workers, school teachers, waitresses, cashiers, school girls, mothers, librarians and factory girls and without exception they said that it could not be done.

The reporter on the story felt like Diogenes with his lantern looking for an honest man for not only did the many women interviewed say that it could not be done by themselves but they knew of no one who could do it on that amount. In the course of the interviews some interesting facts were brought out in the discussion. Not one girl could come anywhere near that amount in her clothes expenditures for any one given year. One mother said that she had kept her daughter in high school for less than that amount each year, but that her daughter who is working needs considerable more than that for clothes.

OTHERS MIGHT DO IT
The girls in the down town districts said that perhaps by making all her own clothes and remaking them several times, the woman at home could make $90 do. But the woman at home, says she cannot do it or begin to do it. Girls who work in offices say that perhaps nurses who spend so much of their time in uniform ought to be able to get along on that amount, but the nurses say that they have to have dresses and coats and shoes and underwear and many other things and they cannot do it.

One employer who listened in on the conversation while the girls in his office were being questioned said: "If you had asked me how much women's clothes cost the first year I was married, I would have complacently told you that my wife's clothes cost very little. But the second year when everything started to wear out, I nearly sent out a call for help. No, I should say that the woman at home cannot do it and I know the girls in the office cannot do it nor do we want them to look frumpy for the sake of being economical."

Lenten Dishes

EGGS may appear in the salad with quite as much value to the whole meal as if they constituted the main dish or a rich dessert.

The thing to remember is that hard boiled eggs or eggs in any made dish are a bit harder to digest than plain soft boiled or poached eggs. Use plenty of bran breads and muffins. And as the spring vegetables come into market serve them religiously.

These foods furnish the bulk and minerals so necessary to a balanced diet. Eggs are a concentrated food and other coarse foods must be furnished to satisfy hunger.

DAISY SALAD

Four hard boiled eggs, shredded leaf lettuce, mayonnaise.
Put eggs in a pan large enough to hold them without touching each other. Cover with cold water. Too much water makes the eggs break during cooking.

Cover the pan and bring slowly to the boiling point. Cook just below the bubbling point for half an hour. Eggs "hard boiled" this way are more easily digested, the white does not get tough and leathery and the yolk is dry and meaty. Plunge eggs immediately into cold water. Let stand 15 minutes changing the water as soon as the eggs make it warm. Tap the shell lightly, breaking the entire surface.

Very fresh eggs are hard to remove from the shell without making the egg quite rough. This thorough tapping of the shell makes it possible to shell even a new laid egg smoothly. Cut the egg in half crosswise.

Slice the yolks crosswise to make the centers of the daisies and cut the whites in strips lengthwise of each half to make the petals. Arrange on a bed of lettuce daisy fashion and drop a teaspoonful of mayonnaise on each yolk. This rule provides a whole egg for each service.

EGGS IN JELLY
Four hard boiled eggs, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 4 teaspoons minced parsley, hearts of lettuce, mayonnaise.

Prepare eggs as in preceding rule. Soften gelatin in one-quarter cup cold water. Let stand 15 minutes.

omical. We cannot afford to have them look underpaid."

ONE OUTFIT COSTS $90
One girl who dresses well and who patronizes sales during mid season for the majority of her clothes said that she is certain that shoes, hosiery and hats during the season cost her $90 a year. Every girl who was interviewed said, "Why, being very conservative, shoes, hat and winter coat would cost $90." Many girls claimed that no one this year could purchase a good looking cloth coat for less than $100.

The girls brought out the fact that in the first place, they had never felt the necessity of spending only $90 a year for clothes and so cannot be fair judges on whether it could be done for one year. They claim that if a girl set out to spend only $90 one year that she might be able to do it, providing she was well stocked with clothes from the preceding year. At the end of the year, she would probably have to spend $500 to replenish her wardrobe.

"Men do not know what it costs the women in their employ to keep well dressed," said one girl who has considerable responsibility in helping her family. "When an employer says that a girl can dress nicely on $90 a year, he shows that he does not know prices of women's clothes."

"If I were a girl, looking for a husband and a home," said one employer. "I would spend every cent I could spare for clothes because it is the attractive women whom the men like and marry. She need not worry that the men will think her extravagant because none of us think about that until after the bills come in after we are married and then it is too late. What's more, men promote the women in their offices who dress well more rapidly than those who are shabbily dressed. No, sir, I would not want the girls here to dress on $90 a year for the sake of the appearance of the office."

Waitresses who wear uniforms say that it cannot be done, for shoes and hosiery are a big item with them and they have to have street clothes as well. Business girls say their expense is great because they not only have to have good looking business clothes but they must also have things for more dressy occasions and they have no opportunity to actually wear out their clothes. Many of them have to give away clothes which have passed their business usefulness but are still in good condition for house wear.

"Now take a hat," said one stenographer. "You come out to work in all sorts of weather and you wear the same hat every day for six months. How does it look? Women who do not have to live in their new clothes all the time as we do may be able to get along, but it's a cinch that we cannot."

ARKANSAS' FIRST WOMAN SHERIFF IS 'GO-GETTER'

MISS OLIVE CLARK

Little Rock, Ark.—Plenty of good looks, a nice shiny badge, a wicked six-shooter, and a "got-get-er" spirit. That's Miss Olive Clark, Arkansas' first woman sheriff.

She's deputy in the office of W. E. Taylor, sheriff and collector of Pulaski county, at Little Rock and is the only woman member of the Arkansas Sheriffs and Collectors' Association.

Keep records? Peck a typewriter? "Not me," says Miss Clark. "I am to be a regular sheriff, tote my gun, and everything. Target practice has always been a pet amusement with me. Now I'll come in handy."

The arresting of women incorrigibles is usually turned over to Miss Clark. "She gets 'em without a battle," says Sheriff Taylor. "Just has a way about her that the women fall for."

Miss Clark is 28 and is going to put a lot of her theories about law violations into effect.

Adventures Of The Twins

Back Home

Nancy and Nick had no adventures in Fairyland for awhile. That's the way it is. Things keep on happening until life seems to be one gay whirl-like riding on a merry-go-round and you get dizzy trying to see everything at once.

So it's just as well to have a stopping place to sort of catch up with yourself and think things over. Besides, one always enjoys things twice, once when he does them and again in his mind when he thinks about them later.

The Twins had a wonderful Christmas because, after they had left Santa Claus and Pim Pim at the North Pole (and the toy-maker and the chimney-sweep and all the others) on Christmas eve and returned home, they found their house brilliantly lighted with candles and holly in the windows and sounds of talking and laughing everywhere, for a host of aunts and uncles and cousins had come to spend Christmas.

From the kitchen were coming steamy, delicious smells which promised wonderful things for the next day.

"Goodness, children, is that you?"

That's the answer a good many people make when they hear that the drug element in tea and coffee often harms nerves and health. They say it's never touched them yet.

Sometimes they only think it hasn't.

SMALLEST STORE IN WORLD MAKES WOMAN A SUCCESS

Widow Keeps Wolf Away By Conducting Tiny Candy Store in New York

By Bob Dorman
New York—The smallest store in the world—2 1/2 feet wide; 5 feet long. Just about the size of a small kitchen table.

It's a candy store in Amsterdam avenue, New York.

Mrs. Ann Dawson, a widow with a 10-year-old daughter, owns it.

A year ago Mrs. Dawson, whose home was in San Francisco, landed in New York, practically penniless.

Her only assets were $40, considerable courage, and her ability to make candy, jelly and cake.

She bought an electric stove, and in her one small room made candy which she sold to neighbors. It was better candy than the stores sold; tasted home-like.

Her fame spread and she decided to branch out. The little store in Amsterdam avenue was the result.

Through its one shining window, crotonne-covered shelves peep out, filled with jellies and jams.

A small electric stove with a gleaming pan filled with a bubbling liquid rests on a shelf. On a small marble topped table in front of the window, candy is being kneaded.

You knock on the window and the upper half is dropped. A smiling face asks your wishes as to cookies, candy or jam.

Twice a day a little girl, clad in blue overalls, leaves the stove with a market basket.

That is Betty, Mrs. Dawson's little daughter. Many of the customers phone in their wants, and Betty is delivery boy.

"It was rather hard at first," says Mrs. Dawson. "But people like home-made things, and business soon picked up."

"Now I am thinking of opening another store farther downtown. But it's not going to be so big that I can't make all the things myself."

House hold Hints

BLUEBERRY STAIN

To remove a blueberry stain put the cloth over a bowl, pour boiling water over the stain and let remain until dry. The stain will disappear.

FRUITS

Fruits, in bunches, are being used on hats shown for spring. Occasionally one sees grapes, vivid tangerines and small peaches, all trimming the same hat.

SILVER

Silver has ousted gold as a background for handsome laces and a surface on which fancy girdles are built.

RENEWING CURTAINS

If the cotton curtains are faded after being washed iron them and while they are still warm go over the designs with wax crayons, lightly, where the color was delicate and using more color where it was deeper. Then using a paper over them, iron them once more. The effect is quite like new.

SMART TIES

Quite the newest and smartest tie for the college or high school girl to wear with her tailored blouse is a man's four-in-hand.

All because Emil Coue, French psychologist, says doing so will make you well mentally and physically.

Coue is founder of a new school of psychology and healing. He says all human ailments are products of imagination and you can cure 'em by curing your imagination.

"Oh, I am so glad, dear!" Polly almost burst into tears. "I was so miserably alone."

"Why, kid, you look like a funeral—what's troubling you? I'll wager my new hat with the varnished cherries that Miss Violet Rand is knowing her admirable fingernails and realizing she isn't the only one that can play her game."

"Oh, but Norma—she won't this game all right? We—Monsieur Barry and I—went to the markets and prowled about all the whole blessed night. It was full morning when we realized it and came home—and there was Violet, waiting to pounce. Oh, it was awful—her insinuations and—and everything—

"It's a pig, in some ways. Don't let her get on your nerves. Listen dear, I've got to go out to Fontainebleau for a week, to paint. Why on earth don't you pack your carpetbag and come along?"

"I'd love to, dear. Paul's not coming for days yet. I'll leave word with Mme. Duboise to forward mail and messages."

Norma and Polly stopped at an inn on the one street of Barbizon, the quaint village upon the skirts of the Forest of Fontainebleau, beloved of artists. Sunshine, rest, good food and Norma's cheerful company soothed Polly into peace if not forgetfulness.

She was unconscious of the fact that Paul, finishing his work, had come home a day earlier than he expected. To be sure he wired, but the message was forwarded by mail. He had burst merrily into the flat, visioning his delighted wife waiting to greet him—only to be met by vacant rooms, and the concierge's explanation that madame had gone with her friend to the country.

Disappointed and wet blanketed, he went down to his office. Among his accumulated mail was a note, violet scented, in a fashionable hand. "If you have a moment, dear friend," wrote Violet, "do drop into my shack for a cup of tea and a chat—fest! I've lots to tell you—and I promise to be interesting, despite your prudish resolutions to flout and neglect me!"

Alone and having nothing better to do, Paul straightened his desk, called a taxi and drove to Violet's house.

SUMMARY OF SPORTS

France has selected a site at Parc de Princes in the Bois de Boulogne for the 1924 Olympic games and will spend thirty million francs for the stadium.

Georges Carpentier had to be operated on for a carbuncle in Paris but he will be able to carry on his future plans, he says.

Earl Thomas, world's champion hurdler, announced at Dartmouth university that he would compete in two more meets and then retire.

Wally Schang signed a contract at the Yanks' training camp in New Orleans and reduced the ranks of the holdouts to NONE.

Benny Leonard denied in New York that his injured hand was a "run out" of his promise to fight Charley White. He said he will be ready for Decoration day.

Yale defeated Columbia, 36 to 23, and won her first game of the season in the intercollegiate basketball league.

Fred W. Moore, graduate manager of Harvard athletics, is against numbering football players but he is going to recommend that numbering be made compulsory. The district he represents on the rules committee has voted in favor of numbering.

Louis R. McCagg, captain, Keith Kane and Lawrence Terry resigned from the Harvard varsity crew on account of the "exigencies of study." They didn't have time to train.

If a batter is hit by a slowly pitched ball, which he plainly tries to avoid, has he the right to first base? Or does the fact that it is a slowly pitched ball make a difference in the ruling of the umpire?

The batsman is entitled to first base. The speed of the ball does not enter into the question. At one time it did. Years ago the rule was changed, however. Now all that is necessary is for the batter to try to avoid being hit in order to give him the right to first.

With each club in the City league having only six more games to bowl and the season closing on March 21, the Arcades with 50 victories and 10 defeats, appear to have the championship clinched. The Arcades need to win only three of their six games to cop the title.

STRIKES AND SPARES

Sharpshooters around the Elks home drives do not expect any of the five teams now leading in the five-man event of the state bowling tournament to finish in the money.

The best the experts give the Hupmobiles of Milwaukee, now at the top of the list with a score of 2,798, is sixth place. The best score made to date in the doubles event is 1,160. Followers of the maple smashing game in Appleton expect this count to be beaten soon and predict that six teams or more will roll better than 1,200 in the tournament. The high mark of 659 in the singles event, made by M. Zoschke of Milwaukee, during the tournament, Mr. Zoschke probably will be one of the prize winners in the singles events in the classic, however.

Bowling fans are looking forward to seeing John Powell of Kenosha, who rolled high in the world's championship series in Chicago in February, perform on the local alleys during the state Elks' tourney. Mr. Powell will roll with the Beerman Brothers team of Kenosha some day next week and will also shoot in the doubles and singles.

Star doubles teams that are expected to roll high in tournament matches have fallen down. A noticeable thing in the doubles matches has been that one man has been shooting high while the other maple buster of the pair has bowled off form and shot low scores.

J. H. Balliet, secretary of the state tournament committee, rolled his singles games Tuesday night and hit for a total of 533 pins.

The tournament will close on the night of Sunday, April 2, instead of on March 31 as scheduled. The series was extended to give bowlers who were to roll during the week of Feb. 13, but were not able to get to Appleton on account of the storm, a chance to compete.

The City league schedule will be complete on March 21 and preparations are being made to stage tournaments at the Arcade, Olympic and Eagle alleys. These tournaments will probably be doubles and singles affairs with the five-man event eliminated. The tournaments will be open to all comers.

Several Appleton bowling teams will participate in an open tournament now underway on the Menasha alleys and to continue during the next 10 days.

The Arcades and F. O. E. No. 574 teams will meet in a series of six games for a special prize. The first three games of the series will be rolled at the Eagle alleys Friday night and the second of the series will be rolled on the Arcade alleys next Thursday night.

ST. PAUL AND BOSTON
SEEK HOCKEY TITLE

St. Paul-St. Paul and Boston will clash here Saturday night in the first of a series of games for the hockey championship of the country.

The Athletic club sextet fought Eveleth to another scoreless tie Wednesday night and on a ruling of President Schooley of the U. S. Hockey association, St. Paul was awarded the seat on points—having a total of seven in five games to Eveleth's six.

Last night's scoreless tie was the second of the series. The first was Monday night and last night's game was scheduled as the play off.

The Bostonians will play two games here, probably Saturday night and Monday night, after which St. Paul will go to Boston.

An all-star basketball team, composed of members of quintets that competed in Appleton Boys' Athletic federation championship series will meet the Fond du Lac grade school champions Saturday afternoon in Appleton Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The Fondy team defeated the Appleton five last Saturday in Fond du Lac, 35 to 16, and the local tossers are out for revenge in the coming struggle.

A preliminary game, between an Appleton Boy Scout quintet and a Midford Clothing Co. five of Kaukauna, will be held. The first contest is to get underway at 2 o'clock.

Efforts are being made to sell 500 tickets, at 15 cents each, for the Saturday afternoon games. The money from the sale of tickets will be used to pay expenses of the Appleton Boys' Athletic federation championship race in which 35 teams competed.

RIPON WINS FROM LAWRENCE QUINTET

Ripon defeated Lawrence by a score of 27 to 20 in a fast basketball game Friday night on the Ripon floor. The Blue and White eagles outplayed the Ripon tossers and got more close in shots at the hoop but their shooting was wild and they missed many easy tries for field goals. All but two of the Ripon baskets were made from long shots.

Ripon put over the victory in the first half which ended with the Congregationalists on the long end of a 17 to 8 count. Lawrence had the best of the going in the second period and scored 12 points to 10 for Ripon.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It
In the year of 1908 I was attacked by Muscular and Subacute Rheumatism. I was unable to do any work and was in great pain. I tried many remedies but none gave me any relief. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and such a pleasant condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden. Some of them say it has proved itself old, and the results were the same as in my own case.
I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and subacute rheumatism (swelling at the joints) to know that there is a great value in my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent! Simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proved itself to be that long looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of $1.00, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. If you feel that you are not getting relief, I will refund your money.

TICKET SCALPERS
CLEAN UP AGAIN

Grafters Have Almost All Tickets to Greb-Gibbons Fight in Control

By Henry L. Farrell
By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Ticket scalpers in New York never lose a decision. No matter what the weight is or what the rules are, the "specs" get there.

New Yorkers have become such easy victims of the pastboard jobbers that it is almost necessary to slip in a hallway and barter for a subway ticket.

It has gone so far that scalpers have finally swooped down on the six day bike race. Without going to some of the specs and paying double or triple the face value of the ticket, it is impossible to get an admission slip for Saturday night, the closing night of the race.

There isn't a ticket in sight for the Gibbons-Greb fight next Monday night and waits are being raised to the skies. The show is being given by a charitable organization and the specs succeeded in getting practically the whole house. Seven dollar seats aren't anxious to sell.

Tex Rickard gave the specs a bad beating on the Dempsey-Carpenter fight when by all the rules they should have stopped into a fortune.

Just after the tickets were placed on sale, some counterfeiters appeared and several alleged manufacturers of the bad tickets were arrested. Rickard announced that bad tickets were in circulation and that it would be dangerous to buy from any place but the ticket office.

Rickard has never denied that he had the counterfeit tickets made himself.

CLASSICS
of the DIAMOND

Sometimes an umpire is forced to resort to drastic measures to silence a protesting athlete.

George Moriarty, American league umpire, was up against such a situation one day last summer.

A certain American League pitcher who threw nothing but strikes, if you would take his word for it, was doing the pitching.

Ordinarily said pitcher is a mighty hard man to hit. This particular occasion was one of his few off days. He was wild, and when he did manage to get one over the batter would take all kinds of liberties with it.

At such times it is always the cue for the pitcher to alibi himself at the expense of the umpire.

Moriarty, who was umpiring balls and strikes, was displeasing the pitcher most of the afternoon.

The pitcher managed to win his game in spite of the fact that the opposing team made eight runs.

In the eighth inning after Moriarty had failed to call a certain batter out on strikes, the pitcher let the world know that he thought the umpiring was sour.

"That is 14 you have missed on me," he yelled.

"How many?" asked Moriarty in a voice equally loud.

"Fourteen," replied the pitcher. Then in a voice that carried all over the park, Moriarty replied: "Someone must have told you to say that you can't count that far."

Appleton Wrestler in Fine Shape for Struggle Friday in Armory G

George Hill, Appleton heavyweight grappler, who meets Herman Hackenschmidt of Beaver City, Neb., in the main event of a wrestling show Friday night in Armory G by the Mid-west Athletic club, will wind up his training grind Thursday and then rest until time to enter the ring for his final bout with the mighty and speedy Nebraska athlete.

Hill went on the road for a 5 mile run Thursday morning and was to work in Alexander gymnasium with his grappling partners Thursday afternoon.

Hill weighed 266 pounds following his workout Wednesday and expects to enter the ring Friday night tipping the beam at 264 pounds. The local star is in fine shape for the struggle. He said Wednesday night he expects Hackenschmidt to give him a gruelling battle, for the Nebraska man is exceptionally fast and is as strong as a lion.

Hackenschmidt will arrive in Appleton Friday morning. The Nebraska man wrestled Tuesday night and in a letter to Elmer Johnston, matchmaker for the Mid-West Athletic club, said he is in top condition. Hackenschmidt is anxious to get a match with "Strangler" Lewis.

Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and relief comes. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica liniment which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous stitches. In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

DISCUSS FEEDING
GARBAGE TO HOGS

Civic Department of Women's Club Considers Disposal of Refuse

Reports of what other cities have been doing in the way of operating hog feeding farms as a means of taking care of the garbage of the city were made by Mrs. S. C. Rosebush and her committee at the regular meeting of the civic department of Appleton women's club at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the vocational school. Mrs. Judson G. Rosebush read an article telling of the use of tractors and motor trucks in carrying garbage from the city to the hog farm outside Utica, N. Y. There they found that sheep as well as hogs thrive on garbage feeding.

Miss Calla Guyles gave a report on the hog farm maintained at Newark, N. J. A report of the Lansing, Mich., system was also made. Mrs. Stephen Rosebush also gave a report of the sewerage system in Appleton, showing by means of charts the main sewer pipes in the city including the large sewer which had not been entirely completed. She showed the nine places where the sewerage is emptied into the river, two of which are above the intake of the water plant. She told of the possibility of installing two stations for sewerage disposal in Appleton with a substation in the fourth ward.

BY AD WRITERS

Prof. W. B. Lindsay, who has charge of the journalism work at Lawrence college, has become a member of the National Association of Teachers of Advertising. The attention of Prof. E. H. Gardner of the University of Wisconsin has been directed to Prof. Lindsay's class in advertising copy writing and it was through the efforts of Prof. Gardner that Prof. Lindsay was elected to membership.

Coming directly from the Standard Advertising agency in Chicago, Carl L. Gibson, one of the partners of the firm, will address the advertising copy writing and business writing classes conducted by Prof. Lindsay. In his effort to bring all available material to his classes, Prof. Lindsay has been in touch with many commercial organizations which are pleased to cooperate with the students at Lawrence. Mr. Gibson probably will be a Lawrence sometime during March.

Materials continue to arrive for the journalism department daily. Several looks showing the various types used for advertising copy and newspaper headlines arrived on Wednesday. A large framed picture of one of the most improved linotypes with various slugs and matrices mounted below was sent by one company.

SPENCER SCORES
"POOR BOOB" FOR SELLING BOOZE

Kaukauna Bootlegger is Sent to Workhouse for 30
Days—Admits Guilt

Condolences for the "poor boob" who gets into the clutches of the law by violating the prohibition act and then shields the man responsible for his plight were expressed by Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Thursday morning when he sentenced Arthur Kappell of Kaukauna to 30 days in the workhouse for bootlegging.

Kappell was brought into court in continuance of his trial which opened Tuesday afternoon. Testimony introduced by the state Tuesday showed that both he and Mrs. Kappell had sold "moonshine" to two young men. Kappell at first entered a plea of not guilty but following a complete confession by his wife he changed his mind and pleaded guilty Thursday.

Questioned by the court, Kappell at first insisted that he did not know the man from whom he purchased the liquor which he in turn sold to the boys. Threatened with a prolonged workhouse sentence, however, he gave the name of the man whom he said had sold considerable liquor in Kaukauna. A little later he declared he had not bought liquor from this man but had stolen two gallons of "moonshine" out of his sleigh. As he proceeded with his story he was admonished by the court "to tell the whole truth."

In sentencing Kappell, Judge Spencer said that were it not for the fact that he had a wife and two children depending upon him the full penalty would be imposed but under the circumstances he would be given as light a sentence as possible.

WATER BACKING UP
IN MANY CELLARS

Complaints of flooded basements have been made by residents in all sections of the city this week to the office of the city water department and the city engineer's office. The warm weather of the past few days has caused snow and ice to melt rapidly and a large volume of water has poured into the city sewers, which were not constructed to carry away water at the rate it has been pouring in and water has backed up into many basements.

Many complaints have come from the Fifth ward where basements are flooded caused by water coming down from the hills but residents in all other sections of the city have reported water in their basements.

Officials of the water department say the trouble is no worse this year than before and there is no occasion for alarm over the situation.

Due to the illness of the Rev. A. Jahnke there will be no Lenten services Thursday evening in St. John Evangelical church.
